

General information

Eligibility

To apply to change your name in Tasmania you must be:

- born in Tasmania, or
- born interstate AND a permanent resident in Tasmania for a least the last twelve months immediately before the date of your application, or
- born overseas AND a permanent resident in Tasmania for at least twelve months immediately before the date of your application.

Born in Tasmania

If you were born in Tasmania, the change of name will be noted on your birth record. If you forward your original birth certificate with the application, an updated version will be sent to you with the change of name certificate.

Born interstate

If you were born interstate and require a copy of your amended birth certificate you will need to contact the State or Territory where you were born.

Multiple name changes

You may change your name once in a 12 month period and 3 times in your lifetime (subject to the discretion of the Registrar).

Change of name by marriage

A person, either male or female, that marries in Australia, can change to their spouse's married family name by providing a marriage certificate issued by the Registry.

If you were married overseas, you should check with the organisation requesting your identity documents for their requirements (e.g Australian Passports Office, driver licence authorities) before proceeding with a change of name application.

Restricted Persons

Prisoners or detainees must obtain the consent of the Director of Corrective Services prior to lodging an application to register a change of name.

If approved, the Registrar of Births, Deaths and Marriages will inform the Tasmania Prison Service Directorate when the new name has been registered.

Registrable Offenders

Section 44A of the Community Protection (Offender Reporting) Act 2005 requires any change of name application from a reportable offender to be referred to the Commissioner of Police for approval.

Before lodging your application

Please read and complete all information on the application

False Information

It is an offence to make a false or misleading representation in any application or document under the Tasmanian Births Deaths and Marriages Registration Act 1999.

Penalties apply.

Privacy

The information required on this form is collected under the Tasmanian Births Deaths and Marriages Registration Act 1999.

Information held by the Registry may be used for statistical purposes and by law enforcement agencies, as well as other uses provided for by law. Such access for approved purposes may be granted to other Registries and certain government and authorised non-government agencies.

The Registry requires proof of your identity to protect your privacy. We collect this information to determine your eligibility to register a change of name, to issue the related certificate and to prevent fraud.

Disclosure of information

When you complete this application form, understand that you have consented to the release of information provided by you, to those agencies which may be able to validate that information in support of your application. It is extremely important that all your identity documents are accurate and reflect your correct identity information.

Documents provided as proof of identity may have their authenticity verified through the National Document Verification Service (DVS).

Documents issued by this office may also be verified by other organisations using DVS.

Can my application be refused?

Yes. The Registrar may refuse your application if:

- you are ineligible, or
- you have changed your name 3 times or more in TAS or another State, or
- you have changed your name within the last 12 months in TAS or another State or Territory, or
- your new name would be classed as a prohibited name.

Unsuccessful applications

The fee for registering a change of name includes processing your application and certificate. If your application is declined or cancelled, only the certificate fee will be refunded. All change of name applications are recorded. You will be notified if your application is unsuccessful, and given a reason.
