s. 20

Part 4 – Parentage Orders

- (iii) cannot be contacted, despite reasonable efforts having been made to do so; and
 - (b) the child is being raised by an intended parent who applied for a parentage order in relation to the child; and
 - (c) the court considers that making the parentage order is in the best interests of the child.
- (5) Subject to Division 3, in deciding whether to make the parentage order, the court may have regard to any other matter it considers relevant.

Division 3 – Matters to be taken into account

20. Presumption as to best interests of child

It is presumed, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, that, if all the parties to a surrogacy arrangement in relation to a child consent, it is in the best interests of the child for the child to become the child of an intended parent or intended parents, as the case may be, who have made an application for a parentage order under this Act.

21. Method of conception, &c., irrelevant to whether parentage order ought to be made

The manner by which a child was conceived is not to be taken into account in determining whether a parentage order is to be made in relation to the child.

Division 4 – Miscellaneous

22. Other orders

If the court makes a parentage order under section 14 or section 19 it may make any other order (including any orders as to the disposition of property) that it considers is required in order to deal with matters relating to, or arising from, the order or the surrogacy arrangement to which the order relates.

23. Appeal against decision in relation to application for parentage order

- (1) A relevant party may, under section 20 of the Magistrates Court (Children's Division) Act 1998, appeal to the Supreme Court against a decision under this Act granting or refusing an application for a parentage order, as if the relevant party were a party to the proceedings under that Act.
- (2) An application under this section may only be made by a person within 30 days after the day on which notice of the decision appealed against was received by the person.

24. Effect of parentage orders on legal relationships

- (1) On the making of a parentage order in relation to a child –
 - (a) the child becomes a child of the intended parent or parents named in the order as becoming parents of the child and the intended parent or parents named in the order become the parents of the child; and
 - (b) the child ceases to be a child of a birth parent; and
 - (c) each birth parent of the child ceases to be a parent of the child.
- (2) Other relationships are determined in accordance with subsection (1).
- (3) Despite subsection (1), if the relationship between persons is relevant for the purposes of any law relating to a sexual offence –
 - (a) a parentage order in relation to a child, or the discharge of such an order, does not cause the cessation of a relationship that would have existed if the order, or its discharge, as the case may be, had not been made; and
 - (b) any such relationship is to be taken to exist in addition to any relationship that exists by virtue of the application of that subsection in relation to that order or by virtue of that discharge.

PART 5 – DISCHARGE OF PARENTAGE ORDERS

25. Applications for discharge of parentage orders

(1) In this section –

“interested person”, for an application for discharge of a parentage order, means –

- (a) the child, if he or she is 18 years of age or more; or
- (b) a relevant party in relation to the child; or
- (c) the Attorney-General.

(2) An interested person may apply to the court for discharge of a parentage order in relation to a child on the ground that –

- (a) the parentage order was obtained by fraud, duress or other improper means; or
- (b) a consent that the court making the parentage order considered had been given to the making of the parentage order was, in fact, not given or was given for payment, reward or other material benefit or advantage (other than the birth mother’s reasonable surrogacy costs); or
- (c) there is an exceptional reason why the parentage order should be discharged.

(3) An application under subsection (2) is to be –

Surrogacy Act 2010 Act No. of

s. 26

Part 5 – Discharge of Parentage Orders

- (a) in the approved form; and
- (b) accompanied by the prescribed fee; and
- (c) lodged with the court.

26. Orders for discharge of parentage orders

- (1) On an application under section 25, the court may make an order discharging a parentage order.
- (2) A court may only make an order discharging a parentage order if the court is satisfied of one of the grounds mentioned in section 25(2).
- (3) The court may, on an application under section 25, make any other orders it thinks fit.

27. Effect of discharge of parentage order
