Your Submission to the TPC Review: I believe the TPC should be independent from the government and ministerial influence. TPC is an independent expert body, which provides the community with a fair hearing on resource management and planning matters. It runs its own processes, which have enabled public participation in a way that is fair and accessible. The community or a member of the community is able to make representations at public hearings without needing a lawyer or experts . The public can be involved and have a voice in Tasmania's land use and Tasmania's future. The government must not restrict the independence and function of the TPC, thus preventing the Tasmanian community having an involvement in its future.
