Your Submission to the TPC Review: I appreciate the opportunity to make a submission to the TPC Review.

I firmly believe the TPC must maintain its capacity to act independently of government. The TPC should be free from Ministerial influence.

I am very concerned that changes to the TPC could fundamentally change the planning system, and how we, the community, are involved in the resource management and planning decisions and processes.

I am also concerned that the TPC review is part of a broader move to a Minister-centred model of decision-making, displacing the role of the TPC as an independent decision-maker and advisor.

In its current form, the TPC is an independent expert body, which provides the community with a fair hearing on resource management and planning matters. If this goes, so too does public confidence in state government transparency and procedure.

Your sincerely,
Ruth Pye
