DAILY REPORT
29 August 2023
CONFIDENTIAL

Table 1 - Prison Capacity and Utilisation

For consistency with the Report on Government Services (ROGS) and to maintain comparability with other jurisdictions, the following prison utilisation rates are calculated in accordance with the national counting rules.

As per the national counting rules, prison utilisation figures do not include bed places used for special purposes, these include disciplinary segregation, observation or crisis care, hospital or infirmary accommodation, facilities or sections of a facility that have been decommissioned.

Data regarding prison capacity and utilisation reflected in this table is extracted directly from the Custodial Information System. Any variations with other reports may be the result of escorts, sections and release from custody.

For the TPS this includes dedicated inpatient, observation, crisis support, disciplinary separation and temporary beds, as well as decommissioned areas of a prison). With the exception of a small number of 'buddy cells', all cells are designed for single occupancy.

~ Additional beds are additional bed/bunks installed to increase operational capacity.

Temporary beds are additional surge beds installed as a temporary measure when prisoner numbers exceed the total capacity.

^ Prisoner numbers at RBP and MHWP are capped in line with agreed staffing levels and may be subject to change. RBP is capped (by industrial agreement) at 276 while the cap for MHWP is currently subject to negotiation

✓ Total Actual is the sum of Total (ROGS) plus Total (ROGS Exclusions) and represents the actual number of cells and prisoners accommodated in the TPS.

- COVID-19 isolation beds are additional beds for the special purpose of COVID-19 isolations.

Table 1 - Prison Capacity and Utilisation

For consistency with the Report on Government Services (ROGS) and to maintain comparability with other jurisdictions, the following prison utilisation rates are calculated in accordance with the national counting rules.

As per the national counting rules, prison utilisation figures do not include bed places used for special purposes, these include disciplinary segregation, observation or crisis care, hospital or infirmary accommodation, facilities or sections of a facility that have been decommissioned.

Data regarding prison capacity and utilisation reflected in this table is extracted directly from the Custodial Information System. Any variations with other reports may be the result of escorts, sections and release from custody.

* Design capacity excludes bed places use for special purposes. For the TPS this includes dedicated inpatient, observation, crisis support, disciplinary separation and temporary beds, as well as decommissioned areas of a prison). With the exception of a small number of 'buddy cells', all cells are designed for single occupancy.

~ Additional beds are additional bed/bunks installed to increase operational capacity.

Temporary beds are additional surge beds installed as a temporary measure when prisoner numbers exceed the total capacity.

^ Prisoner numbers at RBP and MHWP are capped in line with agreed staffing levels and may be subject to change. RBP is capped (by industrial agreement) at 276 while the cap for MHWP is currently subject to negotiation

✓ Total Actual is the sum of Total (ROGS) plus Total (ROGS Exclusions) and represents the actual number of cells and prisoners accommodated in the TPS.

- COVID-19 isolation beds are additional beds for the special purpose of COVID-19 isolations.

Important - Confirmation should always be sought from the Performance and Compliance Unit before using information contained in the Daily Report for reporting purposes. This Daily Report is a snapshot of events, and includes initial information and reports received from facilities at the time the report is distributed. Further quality assurance processes undertaken by the Performance and Compliance Unit may result in incidents and reportable matters being reclassified or amended, and lock-down / out of cell hour data being correct.
